The University's stand is that the decision to construct the Tissue Culture Laboratory was taken before creation of Bihar Agricultural University, Sabour by the authorities of Rajendra Agricultural University, Pusa. The proposal of construction of Tissue Culture Laboratory at Sabour Agricultural College at a cost of Rs 425.54 lakh was duly approved by the Board of Management of Rajendra Agricultural University, Pusa in its 78th meeting dated 21.02.2010. As per the reply of the University the construction of Tissue Culture Laboratory was not simply a construction of laboratory but the scope of work included construction of tissue culture labs, office building, green house, net house, poly house, installation of generator, water pumping station along with operational cost for running the Tissue Culture Laboratory for a period of three years. The University has refuted the allegation that construction of building as well as laboratory of Tissue Culture was done without calling for tender or expression of interest. As per the reply of the University, Tissue Culture Laboratory was a new venture in the whole State of Bihar and no expertise/specialisation was available within the State as such a Committee headed by Associate Dean-cum-
